

I choose

I choose to believe in myself just as my Creatress believes in me.

I choose to be vulnerable and open my heart,
just as a mother opens her yoni to give birth.

I choose to trust that the Divine Mother is holding my hand,
every step of the way.

I chose to love with every cell of my being.

I chose to know my innocence,
and the perfection of my birth.

Blessed Be, Blessed Be

Yogeshwari Laura Cornell
November 15, 2011